

The Flower Class Armoured Corvette was a proof of concept jump capable patrol vessel designed to counter missile boats with high agility and armour. Although shown as an Imperial vessel, it has never formally been put into service in the Imperial Navy. The design has been made available as a data-package to Imperial worlds and client states. It costs 434.8 MCr in volume, has 72dT of fuel, a single ship's trooper, an air/raft and 1.7 dT free cargo and 4dT for supplies for long duration cruises.

(Design by Dominic Mooney, originally for a discussion on the viability of missile boats on the CT-Starships Mailing list)
